The Christmas Story

For 23 years Holy Trinity Church, hidden among the tall buildings of downtown Toronto, has re-enacted the First Christmas each year at this time

HIDDEN AMONG tall buildings, warehouses and factories in downtown Toronto is the charming old Church of the Holy Trinity. When it was built in 1847 it rose majestically among green lawns and little cottages and sailors on Lake Ontario used its twin towers as a guide for making harbour.

Now it stands in a canyon of brick and granite, with only a tiny frill of grass around it, cut off from the world, but very much a part of it, especially in December.

For 23 years thousands of men, women and children have made their way into this little oasis, just a stone's throw from the commercial bustle of Christmas shopping, to see the story of the first Christmas presented in beautiful simplicity. Between 650 and 700 of them squash into pews, sit on the floor and stand jam-packed around the walls for each of the annual performances.

The remarkable thing about The Christmas Story at Holy Trinity is that its cast is recruited from all races and walks of life, and is entirely amateur.

Earlier this month the CBC took its cameras into the church and filmed a special performance of The Christmas Story without an audience. It was to be seen on Open House Friday, December 23.

We dropped in at the old rectory, just behind the church, to get the story of the pageant from the rector's wife, Mrs. John Frank, who plans and directs it. She is a small, auburn-haired woman whose quiet manner belies the drive and organizing ability it must take to put a large-scale production like that together year after year. About 275 people are involved, including the unseen gallery choir.

She told us that The Christmas Story originated in 1929 at St. Martin in the Fields, the old Wren church in London's Trafalgar Square, where her father, the Rev. Patrick McCormick, was rector. Her parents and a woman in their congregation put the pageant together, using the actual New Testament verses as dialogue, supplemented by mime, carols, plainsong, costumes designed after old Flemish paintings, and unusual lighting effects. It was outstandingly successful.

Mrs. Frank met her husband, now Archdeacon Frank, when he joined her father's staff as a social worker. When they married and settled at Holy Trinity, they decided to introduce The Christmas Story to Toronto audiences. "Our first production coincided with my parents' last one until after the war," Mrs. Frank told us. "They had just acquired a new set of costumes, so they sent us their old

Likes "The Brothers"

• I would like to express my deep appreciation for your beautiful production of The Brothers Karamazov, on CBWFT (Nov. 17th). Performances by the actors were superb, and the production as a whole was memorable. I don't think there is a place on earth where French is spoken more beautifully than it was by the young French-Canadian actors from Montreal (Gilles Pelletier, Monique Miller and others) whose flawless pronunciation of the language would have done justice to La Comedie Francaise of Paris.—Mrs. P. Many Programs Enjoyed

• Our thanks to the men and women of the CBC for the pleasure and education they have brought into our home through radio and TV . . . I am especially aware of the pleasure we had while watching Macbeth.

We could go on singling out "specials." Sports coverage is excellent . . . We want to thank you for giving us good Canadian talent over TV and radio. Wayne and Shuster leave us in stitches.—H. A. G., Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask.

• TELEVISION VIEWERS are due soon for a musical treat featuring Winnipeg's talented conductor Eric Wild in a program of Broadway, folk and light classical music. The Music of Eric Wild is the straightforward title of the show, first to be seen on Wednesday, January 4, and alternate Wednesdays thereafter. Such favourites as Florence Faiers and Maxine Ware will lend their vocal talents, further ensuring the success of the series.

A question that will arise in the minds of many viewers is, Why can we not see a program such as The Music of Eric Wild each week? The answer: most members of the 24-piece orchestra also perform with the Winnipeg Symphony; the schedule of concerts and rehearsals does not permit them sufficient time to appear on television more frequently.

• A MAN WHO has been behind-the-scenes in bringing top shows to the television network, Jack Phillips, returns to active producing with a special show, A Red River Christmas, to be seen on December 25. Jack produced such popular shows as Hometown and Let's Sing before his duties as supervisor of television producing became too demanding of his time.

• ON-THE-SPOT news broadcasts, usually considered a field dominated by radio, has been invaded in an impressive manner by CBC Television. Coverage of the recent tragic school bus-train collision at Lamont, Alta., was filmed and televised over the whole continent within a remarkably short time of the disaster. A newsman from Prairie Regional Headquarters in Winnipeg was on a plane headed for the scene within 45 minutes of the time word of the accident was received.

• ORGANIZED LABOUR will have the television spotlight turned on it during January, when a series of four programs entitled "The Face of Labour" is telecast on Explorations.

• FOR THE FOURTH consecutive year, westerners will be helped in marking the advent of the new year by a special program, Frolic, produced by Ernie Mutimer at CBC Winnipeg. On the first show four years ago, a very young and very talented singer, Margaret Neville, made her television debut. This year she returns, and continues to prove her versatility as a song stylist. Other noted performers on the show are Georges LaFleche, Maxine Ware, The Altones, the Valley Beaux and Belles, and an 18-piece orchestra under the baton of Eric Wild.

ON OUR COVER . . .

Merry Christmas to Our Readers

As a Christmas gift for our readers, we have printed the beautiful full-colour picture on our back cover of a stained-glass window in All Saint's Anglican Church, Winnipeg. And on our front cover, pausing for a rest beneath a gnarled tree in a splendid winter setting is Florence Faiers, a featured singer in "A Red River Christmas," special Christmas Day program with setting and costumes from the 1890's.

Full of Grace

Painters', Writers' View of Christmas

AN ARTISTIC study of the life of the Blessed Virgin Mary, and of events surrounding the first Christmas, as interpreted by some of the great painters and writers of the early Renaissance, will be presented on CBC-TV Christmas Eve.

Titled Full of Grace, the program is a blending of graphic art with prose, poetry readings and music. It will feature the off-camera voices of three well-known Canadian performers: Frances Hyland, Joseph Shaw and Henry Comor.

The program considers first the birth of mankind—Adam and Eve in the Garden, the Temptation, the Fall, and the prophecy of a new Adam who would redeem the world. The Annunciation of the Angel Gabriel leads to a description of the life and unfailing motherliness of the Blessed Virgin, seen through the eyes of artists and writers, particularly St. Luke, the most literary of the New Testament writers, traditional author of the Third Gospel and the Acts of the Apostles.

The Christmas story takes up the last half of the program. It begins by telling of Mary's father, Joachim, a shepherd of the tribe of Judah, living in Jerusalem, and her mother, Anna, who had long been childless and who welcomed Mary's birth with great joy. It tells of her marriage to Joseph, the Annunciation of the Angel Gabriel, the Visitation of Mary to Elizabeth, and then of the birth of Christ, the adoration of the shepherds and of the kings.

Life of Rickshaw Puller

Close-Up Does The Impossible

ONE OF the great Indian film directors told the Close-Up crew that no one had made a film on the streets of India and that it was virtually impossible to do so. He said he had found it difficult to shoot even occasional street scenes despite his all-Indian crew, and the three Canadians from Close-Up already knew at first hand that Indian crowds understandably resent anything they consider — wrongly — an attempt to use their poverty as the basis of some sort of spectacular for entertainment of North Americans.

Nevertheless, Allan King decided to go ahead shooting his film on the life of an Indian rickshaw puller. At least he tried to. First he had great difficulty finding rickshaw men who would consent to be filmed. Then, having found two suitable men, he and cameraman Rolf Blacksted spent seven consecutive days arriving on location at 4:00 a.m. to start filming, only to find some hold up: they needed permission from the central government, or from the state government, or from the Bengal Rickshaw Owners' Union, and so on.

When finally they started filming and had completed two days shooting, one of the two main characters pulled out and they had to start again. By ten o'clock each day the sun was directly overhead so that in addition to the heat they had a cameraman's nightmare: no shadows, with white glaring streets and walls in violent contrast to the dark faces of the rickshaw pullers, which on film could easily become just dark blobs.

But most difficult of all were the crowds. Even with the camera hidden as much as possible in the back of a truck, the crew no sooner started shooting than anything from 100 to 200 spectators gathered round to watch, making it very difficult to get the natural street scenes the film needed. So they used telephoto lenses, they shot from different angles and from rooftops, and they used very short takes, with a ride around the block between each take to let the crowd disperse. Even so, the crowds always collected and sometimes became hostile, once to the point of stoning the crew.

Why, then, did King insist on shooting? His own statement of his intentions in this film are enlightening. "I had expected to have the same reaction to poverty in Calcutta that I first did when visiting India three years ago," he wrote in a letter to Close-Up producer Ross McLean.

"In my outline I described my reaction of horror on first seeing Calcutta and I wanted to find just what happened when a person hits rock bottom, what level of humanity persists in a person when he is thus reduced."

"What we found," King went on, "was a kind of dignity which is manifest in Dukhan, our central character (a rickshaw puller in Calcutta.) He has had very very little from life."

He has worked forty years as a rickshaw puller. He has lost a wife and two children, the last of his land went to the money lenders long ago. He has had nothing, and is returning to nothing. With all this, he still has his dignity, his stature as a person, and it is written all over his face. We found as we explored these people that this was characteristic of most of them. . . .

"There were a few people who were in very bad shape, but these

What Makes Good TV Drama?

By BRIAN STEWART, CBC Times staff writer

Conflict, story, technique . . . what is most important in making a high-calibre television drama? We polled top producers, actors and critics and here are the answers they gave

WHAT ARE the ingredients of a good, one-hour television drama? We started by asking Charles Israel, author of many TV dramas.

"A writer gets many ideas," he said. "I ask of any given idea if it has basic conflict between characters. If not, it might make a good half hour drama. But the hour drama needs the three-act form, so you must have conflict."

CBC-TV producer Mel Breen was just closing a rehearsal of The Long Road Back for G.M. Presents. "First you need a strong story line. You can use TV drama to discuss world problems or prove the existence of God, but you must have a story line."

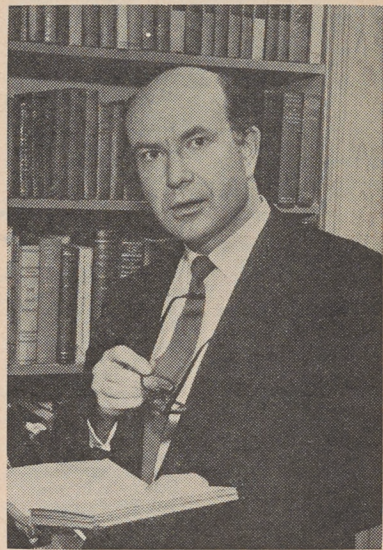

"It is impossible to be dogmatic about drama," said actor-writer Mavor Moore in his Toronto Crest Theatre dressing room as he set about the 90-minute chore of making up for the title role in King Lear. "There is practically nothing you can say that applies to all dramatic works except they must be audible, visible and they must relate . . . not that's too strong a word . . . they must convey some sort of story."

Globe and Mail drama critic Herbert Whittaker, in an all-too-brief telephone conversation, said, "TV will not successfully present drama so long as it continues to ape the values and shape of stage drama. Television must discover its own technique—perhaps a fragmentary, enquiring technique because its strength is in the you-were-there, reportorial style."

Said Ed Moser, executive producer for G.M. Presents, "Most 60-minute television dramas have only 50 minutes playing time, plus commercials. And of course each drama is broken into three acts with each act having its own dramatic climax and so on. If the form was an unbroken 50 minutes, it might lend itself to different treatment."

As Mavor Moore sees it: "The most significant new technique on TV is the 'combined operations,' for instance, a drama, partly live, partly filmed documentary, perhaps even discussion."

Can such programs be called drama? "You have to make your own definitions," said Moore. We have got to the point where practically anything that isn't a straight report of an actual event becomes a drama. Sports have a dramatic element and, in fact, sports has to some extent replaced the theatre, as they often do when the theatre grows as tepid as it is today, and as it was in ancient Rome."

"Television scriptwriters must try experimenting," said free-lance TV producer George McCowan, who will direct Henry VIII at Stratford next year. "I know the writer will ask, 'And who's going to buy my experiments?' Neverthe-

PROGRAM NOTES DECEMBER 25

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Prelude to the Queen

This program will consist of two films: On The 12th Day and Star of Bethlehem. On The 12th Day is a 22-minute fantasy enactment of the Christmas carol, The Twelve Days of Christmas. It concerns a very generous suitor in Merrie Old England who keeps bringing his beloved bigger and better gifts every day for twelve days. Star of Bethlehem features Lottie Reiniger's cut-out animation enacting the Christmas story, with carols by the Glyndebourne Singers.

The Great Adventure

The famed Swedish director photographer Arne Sucksdorff's Cannes Festival prize winning, documentary-drama film about a man's discovery of the beauty and brutality of nature. Filmed on and near a farm at the edge of a forest in Sweden.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker

Prime Minister Diefenbaker's Christmas address will be heard at this time followed by "Christmas Carol," a BBC film.

Christmas Reflections

Violinist Francis Chaplin will play Pizzicato Polka and Pas de Deux (Swan Lake). Soprano Jean Marshall will sing My Favourite Things and Away In A Manger. She will also sing a duet with Clarence Fleiger entitled Thru The Years. Fleiger will sing a solo called, I Wonder As I Wander. Harpist Phyllis Ensher will play Concerto Variations on O Tannenbaum. The Gordon MacPherson orchestra will play Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring and Czardas (from Die Fledermaus).

Address By CBC President

CBC President J. Alphonse Ouimet will send Christmas greetings to all viewers immediately following the program "Christmas Reflections."

Country Calendar

This program is a special Christmas show. "Let Nothing You Dismay." Country Calendar celebrates Christmas Day with the Gordon Green family. Mr. Green, farmer, author and editor, owns a farm in Ormstown, Quebec. He is editor of Family Herald, a national farm publication. During the program, Mr. Green will show viewers around his farm, including a look at some of the many animals he has on the grounds. Mr. Green will also relate his personal feelings about Christmas including the present commercialism. Murray Creed, producer.

A Christmas Letter

This Christmas Day tribute to Canada's three armed services will be introduced by the Hon. Douglas Harkness, minister of national defence. The three sequences in the program depict a normal day for navy, army and air force personnel and are linked together by a (fictitious) letter home from a sailor, soldier and airman. The program will stress the routine, and often isolated, existence of Canadian servicemen who spend Christmas away from home. The navy sequence was shot aboard a submarine off Canada's east coast and depicts a typical naval exercise in the Atlantic. The army sequence was filmed at a Gaza Strip desert outpost of Canada's UN force and tells of a border incident involving a Bedouin family. The air force sequence depicts an Argus aircraft on exercise, hunting down an "enemy" submarine off the Atlantic coast. Narrators are: Harry Mannis (navy), John O'Leary (army) and Gordon Jones (air force). Keith Lawrence is producer.

Twentieth Century

"Admiral Byrd," the story of the "gallant gentleman" who devoted 30 years of his life to polar exploration, and the first man to fly over both North and South Poles. Featured are three men who knew Byrd well and journeyed with him to open the world's last frontier, five million square miles of frozen wilderness. They are Dr. Paul Siple, a scientific advisor in the U.S. Army's Research office in the Pentagon who, as a teenager, was the Boy Scout selected to accompany Byrd on his first Antarctic expedition; Col. Bernt Balchen,

WAYNE AND SHUSTER

Canada's favourite comedians, Wayne and Shuster, will present their TV version of Mother Goose again this Christmas Day, with fun promised for the entire family. First seen last Christmas, the satire will also be seen the same day in England and Australia.

USAF (Ret.), Byrd's pilot on the second expedition; and Charles J. V. Murphy, and editor of Fortune magazine, who was also a member of the second expedition.

The First Day of Christmas

From the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto. Singers Joyce Sullivan and George Murray will be co-hosts. Others on this program will be the Art Snider Chorale and a quartet of musicians under the direction of Art Snider, and magician John Giordmaine. Numbers to be performed: Have Yourself A Merry Little Christmas (Sullivan), Cherry Tree Carol (Sullivan), Christmas in Killarney (Murray), Christmas Alphabet (Sullivan and Murray), Away in a Manger (Murray), My Favourite Things (Art Snider Chorale), and Twelve Days of Christmas (the entire group).

News magazine

An examination of Canada's parole system for prisoners and the way it is framed to help a prisoner who wants to rehabilitate himself. Film cameras will visit the home of a prisoner released on parole from Kingston Penitentiary, to see how he is enjoying

PROGRAM NOTES

DECEMBER 26

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Chez Helene

French for pre-schoolers, with Hélène Baillargeon and her assistants—Susie the mouse (Corinne Orr), Peter (Anthony Tremblay), and Marion. From Montreal.

Nursery School Time

Hoppy got a model train for Christmas, and he and Miss Teddy play with it. They talk about the different kinds of trains—passenger trains, freight trains and circus trains. Teddy reads a story called "The Pony Engine."

Open House

Folk Songs by Noreen St. Pierre. Toronto folk singer Noreen St. Pierre, pays a Boxing Day call, bringing with her a collection of songs and her auto-harp on which she plays her own accompaniment. She'll sing the Yiddish folk song The Cherry Tree Carol and The Lollipop Tree, a contemporary American children's song.

Carolyn Pulls the Strings. Carolyn Blyth is a teenaged ventriloquist who, as one newspaper story puts it, "matches dimple for dimple, and wit for wit with the crazy antics of two dummies, three marionettes, plus an assortment of ten glove puppets." Carolyn is fourteen years old and a first year student at high school in the Montreal suburb of Verdun. She'll appear on Open House today to show us her puppets and to tell how she became interested in ventriloquism.

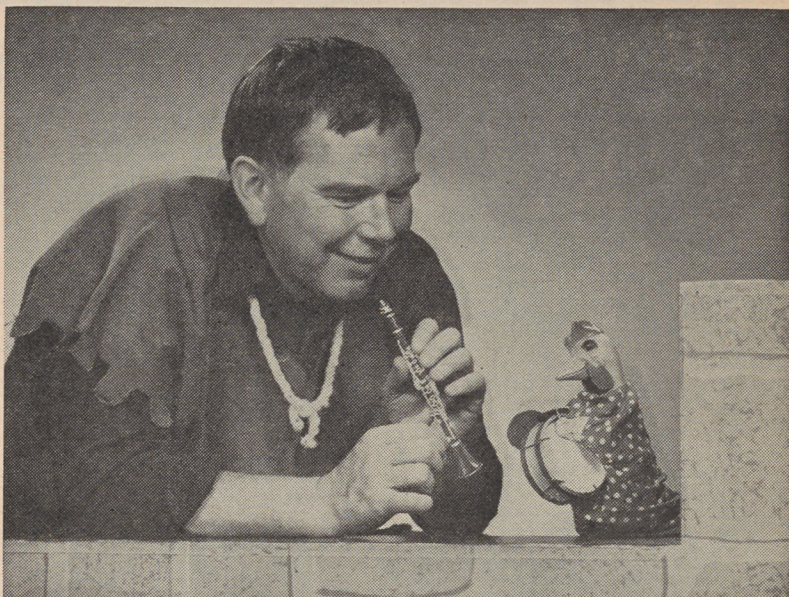

Reflections

With Gordon Macpherson's orchestra, harpist Phyllis Ensher, soprano Jean Marshall, and violinist Francis Chaplin. From Halifax.

Soprano Jean Marshall will sing "L'Amour" and "When You're Away." The orchestra, directed by Gordon MacPherson, will play "Divertimento in D Major" (First Movement) by Mozart, and "Long, Long Ago." Violinist Francis Chaplin will play "Berceuse" by Faure, and "Songs of Home" with Gordon MacPherson at the piano.

The Verdict Is Yours

Unrehearsed courtroom drama series produced by the Columbia Broadcasting System. Judge and counsel are portrayed by professional lawyers; the parties to the case and the witnesses are played by actors and actresses. The jury, selected from the audience, gives its verdict at the completion of each case, most of which run one week (five programs). Newsman Bill Stout acts as courtroom reporter, supplying sidelights and background on each case.

Robert Homme, the lovable giant, entertains the very young with stories and tunes each Monday. Robert shares a castle with Rusty, his pet rooster, who also helps to entertain.

CBWT—Three's Company

The fabulous Van Gogh Exhibit is featured on "Three's Company" today, with Mary Liz Bayer and Bill Guest meeting Mrs. J. J. Lander and Dr. Ferdinand Eckhardt of the Winnipeg Art Gallery who describe the artist and his work. Mrs. Bruce Mumford continues her series on entertaining with the emphasis today on the informal approach.

Junior Roundup

Friendly Giant. Rusty got some toy soldiers for Christmas and he and Jerome play with them. Friendly reads the story, "Once There Was A General."

Host Murray Westgate presents another film from Ottawa. Dave Broadfoot and Jean Templeton conduct another quiz, with a boy and a girl somewhere in Canada, competing for the grand prize. A studio audience of boys and girls participate in the telequiz.

Don Messer's Jubilee

With Don Messer and the Islanders, vocals by Marg Osburne and Charlie Chamberlain, and emcee Don Tremaine.

Today, Charlie Chamberlain will sing "This Land is Your Land," and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." Marg Osburne will sing "May You Always" and "The New Year Song." Marg and Charlie will do "How Great Thou Art." The orchestra will perform to "Quebec Reel," "Anne Marie Reel," and a medley of "Young Billy," "Speed the Plough," "The Mocking Bird," and "Silver and Gold." The Buchta Dancers will do "Goosefeathers" and "Buffalo Gals."

Danny Thomas Show

Starring Danny Thomas as nightclub performer Danny Williams, Marjorie Lord as his wife Kathy, and featuring Rusty Hamer and Angela Cartwright as the Williams children, Rusty and Linda.

The Jack Kane Show

Starring Jack Kane and The Music Makers, with vocalist Sylvia Murphy.

My Sister Eileen

A comedy series about two sisters who try to crash the "big-time" in New York City, starring Elaine Stritch and Shirley Bonne.

Today, Eileen becomes a star. Ruth tries to discourage Eileen's persistent hometown suitor by telling him Eileen is a star on Broadway. The suitor agrees to return home and let Eileen have her career, but insists on seeing Eileen in a rehearsal first.

DECEMBER 27

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Nursery School Time

Miss Madeleine and Dick are busy clearing up after Christmas. Madeleine reads a story called "The Winter Noisy Book," about a dog called Muffin. Miss Madeleine shows how to make an equipment box for toys.

Music Break

Featuring singing host Georges LaFleche and today's guest vocalist Lorraine West. Georges and Lorraine blend voices to sing Put On A Happy Face; Darn It Baby, That's Love, and The Party's Over. Georges will sing What Are You Doing New Year's Eve? and Lorraine will be featured in Married I Can Always Get. Music by Bob McMullin and his orchestra.

Three's Company

Canada's most famous western Ballet Company celebrates its 21st Anniversary this month, so "Three's Company" salutes the Royal Winnipeg Ballet today. Jose Poniera officiates with music and Bill Guest and Mary Liz Bayer discuss highlights of the birthday events with two very special guests. Mat Gauer dedicates one of her favourite recipes to the general celebrations.

Junior Roundup

Maggie Muggins. Maggie and her friends are putting on a play, about going west to look for gold. Fitzgerald and his "mother," Grandmother Frog, set out in a covered wagon, with Benny Bear, as a scout. In a snow storm, Benny gets lost, and the horses wander away. On foot, Fitz and "Ma" set out across the mountain. But there is a landslide, and they are almost buried. A good Indian, Reuben Rabbit, comes along and digs them out. And they discover gold on the spot.

From Montreal, host Murray Westgate presents "This Living World," with Steve Bloomer; the Everglades, in the southern tip of Florida. A swampy jungle, which abounds with life, but holds many dangers for its inhabitants and for men who venture into it. From Toronto—John Lunn from the Royal Ontario Museum gives another look backstage at the museum.

Sky King

"Danger at the Saw Mill." On their way to a fishing expedition in the forest, Sky and Penny are run down in their station wagon by a lumber truck. This is the final episode of this series.

Chevy Show

Starring Dinah Shore in "Christmas Around the World."

Front Page Challenge

Guest panelist for this program is Andrew MacFarlane, columnist for the Toronto Telegram. He joins regular panelists Gordon Sinclair, T o b y

Robins and Pierre Berton in attempting to identify news headlines. Fred Davis is moderator.

Twilight Zone

"King Nine Will Not Return." An air force officer tries to reconstruct events leading to the crash landing of an aircraft named King Nine in the desert, of which he was the lone survivor. With Bob Cummings as Capt. Robert Embry.

PROGRAM NOTES

DECEMBER 28

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Nursery School Time

Hoppy isn't feeling quite up to par today, so he and Miss Teddy play pretend, with Hoppy as a sick doll and Miss Teddy as the nurse. Miss Teddy shows how to make a scrap-book for Christmas cards.

Open House

Artist in the Kitchen. Everyone likes to cook—men, women, boys and girls. Sixteen-year-old David Cressman of New Hamburg, Ontario, will be in the Open House kitchen today to show some of the dishes he cooks for his teenage friends during the holidays. David was one of the two boys to reach the finals last spring in the Canadian Cherry Pie contest sponsored by the Red Cherry Institute of Canada.

The Movie Scene. Clyde Gilmour our movie reviewer talks about some of the movies the family might visit over the holiday season.

On the Map. CBC's correspondent in London, Don Gordon, visits Open House today with some background stories on the news from abroad. Mr. Gordon is based in London but has recently visited the Congo and the Middle East.

Halls of Ivy

Film series starring Ronald Colman and Benita Hume.

Today — "Note the Quote." The Ivy board chairman reveals that a radio show called Note the Quote will originate from Ivy College. On the show Dr. Hall finds himself hard-pressed to keep up with his opponent, a soda dispenser.

CBWT—Three's Company

Today, Germaine Warkentin gives us her report on the current community performances. Cynthia Coop continues her interior design series and Stanislaw Wujec brings us to modern times in his survey of costumes.

Junior Roundup

Friendly Giant. Rusty has a book called, "Now This, Now That." It points out that things often look like one thing from one angle, and like another thing from a different angle. Friendly, Rusty and Jerome find this an interesting topic of conversation.

From Halifax, host Murray Westgate presents the Micmac Indian legend: "Glooscap the Peacemaker"

As Lord Durham, Barry Morse (right), will face a modern-style press conference in the last of the three-part series on "Explorations," entitled "Durham's Canada." The press conference panel is composed of Arch McDonnell, Hedley Mattingly and William Ferguson (upper left) with Charles Lynch (lower left) as moderator.

—wars between the Micmacs and the Mohawks, and how Glooscap advised Wejebok on war strategy, thus saving his wife and bringing peace. From Winnipeg—"The Outrider," with Stu Phillips: ballads and tales of the old West. Stu tells the story entitled The Lamplighter in which he recalls his boyhood days when he took the job as the town lamplighter and the humorous difficulties he encountered. Songs: Take Me Back To Colorado, The Blue Tail Fly and The Little Green Valley. From Toronto—A close look at a trumpet and a French horn. Murray's guests will be musicians, who will demonstrate these instruments.

Huckleberry Hound

A children's program enjoyed by adults, with Huckleberry Hound, Yogi Bear, and Dixie and Pixie in their never-ending battle with Jinks the cat.

Today — "Huck's Hack." Taxi driver Huck is persistent in trying to collect the fare from a bank-robbler passenger.

Busy Fingers

Today, leather tooling is demonstrated. Guests will be two boys and a girl whose hobby is working with leather.

Countrytime

A fifteen minute series of direct interest to Canadian farmers on significant developments on the farm front. The program will contain practical information and opinions and why-to-do-its and how-to-do-its of practical agriculture.

My Three Sons

"Mike's Brother." Mike's brother Robbie, develops a serious inferiority complex because he believes that he can't measure up to the high standards set by Mike.

Perry Como Show

Tonight's guests will include singer Connie Francis and comedienne Kay Thompson.

Salute to the Armed Forces

A film review of the work of Canada's armed forces at home and abroad, filmed by army, navy and air force cameramen.

Explorations

Durham's Canada, part three. An imaginary press conference between Lord Durham and 20th century newsmen. Durham explains his findings to reporters and defends his report in relation to subsequent events. In addition to Barry Morse as Lord Durham, Charles Lynch and Alan Millar will act as co-hosts and Arch McDonnell, William DeMarois and Hedley Mattingly will play the part of questioning newsmen.

PROGRAM NOTES

DECEMBER 29

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Nursery School Time

Miss Madeleine and Dick have collected Christmas paper and ribbon in a big box. Miss Madeleine shows a huge card, showing the twelve days of Christmas, and she sings the song. Then, because they heard that Hoppy wasn't feeling well yesterday, they make him a get-well card.

The Verdict Is Yours

Unrehearsed courtroom drama series produced by the Columbia Broadcasting System. Judge and counsel are portrayed by professional lawyers; the parties to the case and the witnesses are played by actors and actresses. The jury, selected from the audience, gives its verdict at the completion of each case, most of which run one week (five programs). Newsman Bill Stout acts as courtroom reporter, supplying sidelights and background on each case.

CBWT—Three's Company

Well known restaurateur Hans Fread visits Three's Company today to join Mary Liz Bayer, Jose Poniera and Bill Guest as they welcome guests of the afternoon half hour of information and entertainment.

Junior Roundup

Just Mary. This is the last of the "Just Mary" series. The story of "Little Good Arrow." A little Indian boy named Nothing Yet, ashamed of his name, sets out to hunt. His father, the chief, promises him a feather for every animal he brings back. He meets several animals, but each is happy and busy or has some good reason why he should be allowed to live. Little Nothing Yet hasn't the heart to kill them, so he comes back empty-handed. But his father decides that he has earned the name, Little Good Arrow.

Host Murray Westgate presents a program dealing with horses and dogs. A film, "Trotting Horses," and guest, a trotting driver, who will demonstrate sulky equipment. A film on "Training Dogs," and guest, a police constable, who will bring with him a trained police dog. Also two short films, "Prize Husky Team of Canada," and "Learning How To Ride."

Stop, Look and Listen

The physical and mental aspects of space loneliness are the subject of scrutiny in the "Science in the News" segment today. Jack Robbins will interview Wilma Sansom, the first woman to undergo isolation tests in the University of Manitoba's space research program.

Jane Wyatt and Robert Young, who co-star as the parents of the peripatetic young Andersons, have their hands full each Thursday on "Father Knows Best," a film feature on CBWT.

In the final chapter of "Manitoba Diary," Cec Montgomery continues his story about the growth of Winnipeg after the turn of the century, and describes life in infant St. Boniface, with the aid of more rare photographs of this area in its early days.

Geoff Spurrll astounds host Warren Davis with his Parlour Tricks. Geoff will demonstrate stunts, tricks, and puzzles you can do with oddments from around the house, on his "Hobby Page."

From Winnipeg, produced by Don Browne-Wilkinson.

Live a Borrowed Life

Guest panelists will be TV interviewer Mary Ellen McPhillips and free-lance writer and broadcaster Lister Sinclair. Regulars on the panel are Bill Walker and Elwy Yost. Charles Templeton is moderator.

Klondike

Based on Pierre Berton's book, The Klondike Fever, this adventure series featuring Ralph Taeger as danger-loving Mike Halliday, James Coburn as the charming scoundrel Jeff Durain, Mari Blanchard as enterprising businesswoman Kathy O'Hara and Joi Lansing as Durain's sweetheart and accomplice, Goldie. The series tells of the discovery of gold in the Klondike River valley in 1897, which turned an uncharted Canadian wilderness into a magnet for fortune hunters and prospectors.

Fancy Free

With host Alan Millar. Selections for this program include: Something's Comin', Tonight and Maria—all from the West Side Story, and sung by the Billy Van Four. Lovely Way to Spend An Evening and I Whistle A Happy Tune sung by Allan Blye. You Do Something To Me and Some Of These Days featuring Ruth Walker, and the entire cast will join in singing Auld Lang Syne. The Calendar Year feature of this program encompasses the first 60 years of this century. (This is the final program of this series).

DECEMBER 30

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Nursery School Time

Hoppy has received a get-well and Happy New Year card from Miss Madeleine and Dick. Miss Teddy looks at a calendar, and talks about what it is and what it does. Calendars are a way of time, and another way is clocks. Miss Teddy has several clocks in the nursery school which she and Hoppy talk about — a grandfather clock, an hour glass, an alarm, a cuckoo clock and an electric clock.

Open House

Our Special Guest. Our special guest today on Open House is Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, Executive Director of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada. The USC is a voluntary non-denominational relief and rehabilitation agency which has been giving aid in areas of greatest human need since 1945, regardless of race, creed or nationality. The greatest assistance has always gone to the most helpless of all—the children. Each year, Dr. Hitschmanova spends four months travelling about 35,000 miles to visit each of the USC's projects overseas. Her travels take her to Korea, Hong Kong, India and Greece. She is interviewed on Open House on the eve of her departure for another such tour.

Film on Work of Unitarian Service Committee. When Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova last made a tour of inspection of USC sponsored schools and orphanages and other projects in Korea, Hong Kong and India, she was accompanied by cameraman Dennis Jukes. The film record of that journey is shown on Open House today and through it we'll meet some of the children and adults who are receiving aid through the work of the Unitarian Service Committee.

Interview with Dr. Wilfred Pelletier. Another special guest today on Open House is Dr. Wilfred Pelletier, one of the conductors with the National Youth Orchestra Association of Canada. The formation of the National Youth Orchestra Association of Canada started when Walter Susskind, the internationally famous conductor brought the success story of the National Youth Orchestra of Great Britain to Canada four years ago. Mr. Susskind's idea was taken up by a group of interested citizens and culminated in the formation last summer of the National Youth Orchestra Association of Canada. The aim of the Association is to teach talented young musicians to play in a symphony orchestra under professional conditions; thus assuring a constant supply of first class musicians to improve the standard of our symphony orchestras. We hear about the progress the association is making in an interview with Dr. Wilfred Pelletier who will conduct a concert of the National Youth Orchestra to be held in Massey Hall in Toronto on December 31st. Dr. Pelletier is Director of the Quebec Conservatoire de Musique. He is also distinguished as the founder of the Montreal Festival and is a former conductor of the Metropolitan Opera.

Family of Musicians. Four members of the Armin family of Windsor, Ontario, will be in Toronto to attend the meeting of the National Youth Orchestra Association of Canada. They'll visit Open House today to talk about their work with the orchestra and to play for Open House viewers. In their own family quartet, Otto Armin, aged 17, is first violinist, 15-year-old Adele is second violinist, 16-year-old Paul plays the viola while Richard, 16, plays the 'cello. They'll play music for String Quartet by Haydn, Raff and others.

CBWT—Three's Company

Today — Dolores Booth comes to the end of her story with the beginning of residence in the Booth's new house. Gerline Crawford begins a new series of sewing ideas and Alice Poyser reviews some of the outstanding books you'll enjoy reading on winter evenings.

Junior Roundup

Friendly Giant. Since the New Year is about have a Birthday Party, Rusty and Jerome are going to have a party, with noise makers. Friendly reads the story, "All the Mice Came," which is about a surprise party for some mice.

From Vancouver—host Murray Westgate presents "Tidewater Tramp," another adventure of the crew of the Flying Kestrel, B.C. coastal ship. This week's episode: "The Ship's Concert" — When everyone on board the Flying Kestrel try to put on a special performance for New Year's, a quarrel between Cook and Moffat spoils things. Gail and Peter put on an "act" which makes them see how silly they have been. From Toronto—"Junior Roundup" News Package — national and world events of interest to young people. More photographs will be shown and prize winners announced in the photography contest.

Fury

Today — "Mercy Flight." The plane carrying Peewee to Capital City hospital for an appendectomy crashes in the mountains.

Perry Mason

"The Case of the Dangerous Dowager." Mason fails to get possession of $70,000 in gambling IOU's before they can be used against his client, and a child custody hearing becomes a murder trial.

CBWT—Danger Man

"Sabotage." John Drake volunteers to help find the cause of numerous mysterious aircraft crashes. A request to deliver a thermos bottle by air is the clue to a large-scale smuggling operation.

Have Gun, Will Travel

"The Sanctuary." A lynching party camps outside a mission in which Paladin and a man suspected of murder are spending the night. The young suspect tries to shoot the priest who is offering him sanctuary.

CBWT—Men Into Space

Today—"Christmas On The Moon." A special mission, headed by Col. McCauley and including two brilliant astronomers, are forced to spend Christmas on the moon to study a great comet which has entered the solar system. An infected appendix and two lost members of the crew prevent boredom. A freak of nature prompts the men to recognize the true meaning of Christmas.

Peter Gunn

"Murder On The Midway." When a young carnival girl is murdered by a person or persons unknown, Peter Gunn is hired to protect her beautiful and shapely roommate, Rowena, from a similar fate. Cast:

Mr. Fix-It

Today's program will be a recap of subjects discussed by Peter Whittall during the last few months of 1960. Peter and announcer Rex Loring will also report on some of the up-coming programs for the new year.

Dennis the Menace

"Dennis' Allowance" — Dennis asks for an increase in his allowance so that he can buy a friend's "death-ray gun." Instead of a raise he gets a lecture on the value of money which so impresses him that he decides to try his hand at running businesses—much to his father's dismay.

Red River Jamboree

Tonight, the cast review the most-requested hits of the year.

CHRISTMAS EVE ON CBWFT

LATE NOTES AND CORRECTIONS
FOR DECEMBER 24th

CBC Times subscribers were advised last week to check for any special Christmas programs on CBWFT in this week's issue. Here are the program changes for Saturday, December 24th:

9:00—LONG METRAGE: presents "Amis pour la vie," a drama of the adolescence, starring Geronimo Meynier, Andrea Scire and Carlo Tamberlani. Franco, a son of a diplomat, and Mario, the ceramist's boy, share a secret. A violent college competition in which Mario is the loser marks the beginning of his hatred for Franco . . . who finds it impossible to remain in the country, and asks his father to take him away.

10:30—THE ERROL FLYNN THEATRE will be replaced by PETIT THEATRE which features "La Surprise."

11:00—Our second LONG METRAGE is entitled "Ali-Baba et les Quarante Voleurs" (Ali Baba and the 40 thieves) and stars Fernandel, with Dieter Borsche, Samia Gamal and Henri Vilbert . . . In an adaptation of the story from "A Thousand and One Nights." Ali-Baba, faithful servant of Cassim for many years, falls in love with a slave-girl he was to sell, and decides to marry her. The day of the wedding, Cassim, with the help of a local bandit chief, decides to kill the lovers. But Ali Baba, who had found the bandit's hideout and distributed the stolen treasures to the poor . . . realizes in time that he has many friends!

Christmas Day Specials on CBWFT

5:30 FILMS

A series of short films on Quebec winter scenes and Christmas traditions will be shown at 5:30, along with popular songs.

10:30 HEURE DU CONCERT

The Concert Hour seen three days earlier in Montreal on the Thursday Evening Spectaculars is scheduled, exceptionally, for Christmas Day, Dec. 25, at 10:30. It presents a Christmas Concert of works by Langlais, Bach-Respighi, and Honneger. Featured are the Laval University Choir, and the Quebec Symphonic Orchestra directed by François Bernier, along with the Maîtrise de Trois-Rivières, a boy's choir.

The concert will feature "Messe Salve Regina" by Jean Langlais; a choral: "Nun Komm'der Heiden Heil-and" by Bach-Respighi; and the famous "Christmas Cantata" one of the best-known works by contemporary composer Arthur Honneger.

11:30 REPORTAGE

Travel the World on Christmas Day

BBC'S CHRISTMAS DAY COMMONWEALTH FEATURE

Gerard Mansell (left), of the BBC, discusses the details of this year's Christmas Day Commonwealth feature, which he is producing, with the well-known actor, Stephen Murray, who is narrating the program. "No Man Is An Island" will be broadcast in the General Overseas Service on Christmas Day.

UNDER THE TITLE "No Man Is An Island," radio listeners on Christmas Day will be taken around the world by the BBC's annual Commonwealth Broadcast. Actor Stephen Murray will be narrator of the program.

The title is taken from the famous passage in John Donne's "Devotions," which stresses that every man is "involved in mankind" and that no one can live his life for himself alone. The BBC invited various broadcasting organizations throughout the Commonwealth to find speakers whose working lives were an illustration of this truth—quite ordinary and not famous people, the kind who might otherwise be known only in their own surroundings. They were recorded in their homes or the places in which they work, and extracts from these recordings will make up the program. Fifteen countries, apart from the United Kingdom, have contributed to "No Man Is An Island."

Nigeria, the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, India and Pakistan, are all represented by doctors. From Nigeria comes the voice of Dr. Christopher Okojie, who almost single-handed and with little money started a private hospital in Irrua, in the bush 70 miles from Benin City. He has been described as "the doctor with the spirit of Schweitzer."

Dr. Wilhelm Gilges is the speaker from Northern Rhodesia. He left Germany in the early years of the Nazi regime. After a number of years as a plastic surgeon in Johannesburg he gave up his practice to work among the African population in Northern Rhodesia.

From Pakistan comes the voice of Dr. George D'Cunha, and from India that of Dr. Verrier Elwin, an Englishman who has worked for 30 years among the tribal people in remote parts of Central and North-East India.

Australia is represented by Father Kennedy Tucker of the Anglican brotherhood of St. Laurence, who has spent a lifetime waging war on the slums of Melbourne and is the founder of Carum Downs near Melbourne.

New Zealand's contribution comes from the mother of an adopted family of eight, and Hong Kong is represented by Father Howatson, a Jesuit priest who has spent many years working among Chinese refugee children, organizing boys' and girls' clubs.

Two other social workers in the program are Mrs. Evelyn Tracey, who runs the Tacarigua Orphanage in Trinidad and is mother to 500 children, and Mrs. Ampofo of Ghana, an Almoner at Accra's Mental Hospital.

Two voices from Sarawak are heard in the program: James Sim, a cured leper who stayed on at the Rajah Sir Charles Brooke Memorial Settlement at Kuching to teach children suffering from leprosy, and Elizabeth Ulas, a young Iban woman.

Two other speakers, Edwin de Robillard of Mauritius and Miss Ariyaratne of Ceylon, devote much of their time to social service. Miss Ariyaratne is convener of the Shramadana movement. Shramadana means "donation of labour" and members of the movement give their spare time to helping the underprivileged. Edwin de Robillard organized groups of volunteers of all races in Mauritius to help people rebuild their homes, destroyed in two recent cyclones.

Song of a Road

"We built canals, we laid the tracks,
Of railways here to hell and back,
And now we're going to have a crack

At the London-Yorkshire Highway."

SO SING the men with picks, shovels and bulldozers in a BBC radio ballad about the building of the first 76 miles of Britain's first super highway, the London-Yorkshire motorway. Its story is told by the men who designed and built it, and set into song by Ewan MacColl, with the help of Charles Parker and Peggy Seeger, the same team who produced The Ballad of John Axon, heard on CBC radio in September. Song of a Road will be presented on CBC Wednesday Night this week.

How did they hit on such an unlikely subject for a ballad as a super highway? Producer Charles Parker says: "As soon as we had completed The Ballad of John Axon, Ewan MacColl and I began casting around for another subject which would lend itself to the exciting method of blending real-life recordings, folk songs and jazz which we had stumbled upon in that production. But nothing quite caught alight until the head of the BBC's Midland Region suggested the building of the London-Yorkshire motorway as a subject.

"How were we to find a storyline as strong as that of John Axon's? As soon as we began to talk with the men who designed and built the motorway we knew that this civil engineering work would supply its own story against a vast canvas of 4,000 or more men, thousands of machines, and

Experimental scripts are a rarity, but writers feel that CBC television gives ample opportunity for experimentation.

TV drama is racing through numerous phases less, I feel TV must find new conventions, a new format—though I can't say exactly what."

"I would like very much to try experimental dramas," said producer Mel Breen, "but experimental TV doesn't start with the producer. It starts with the script. And we just don't see many experimental scripts."

Said writer Israel: "CBC is a good place to experiment. Not as good as it once was, perhaps, but still very good."

"In the best period of TV drama," said McCowan, "producers like Fred Coe gathered round them writers like Chayevsky and Sirling and let them work out ideas and techniques without too much pressure. Producers had the same function as some of the great editors of the publishing houses."

"Like the stage, television has different phases through which its dramas pass," said Moser. "The Chayevsky phase was one; I'm not sure what it is now, but we'll have others. But because of the large number of plays produced in any one year, we move through these phases more quickly on TV."

Are there any limitations on TV drama compared with film and the theatre? In general, Breen, Moser and Israel think not.

"The same idea can work in several media," said Israel. In 1952 he conceived the idea of a novel called The Mark about the return to society of a convicted sex offender. Instead of a novel he wrote a radio play, produced on CBC Stage in 1953; in 1955 he wrote it as a TV drama; the novel was finally published in 1958; and now the film based on the book is ready for release.

"Main difference between theatre and TV," said Ed Moser, "is the fragmented audience of TV. In general stage plays can be done on TV more or less successfully, but it is not always possible to translate TV drama for the stage."

"TV alters the ground rules of drama," said Mavor Moore. The fragmented audience, for instance, "rules out ritualistic drama which is essentially a shared experience. And TV, like all photography, finds it difficult to handle symbolism and, therefore, to handle poetry."

"On the other hand," Moore went on, "TV shares with film the ability to play around with time and place more easily than on stage, and the varying perspective of close-up and long-shot make a vital difference in TV. The theatre can't claim any aesthetic priority over television except that in the theatre the audience is in the presence of the performer. But I'm not sure how important that is."

Of adaptation, critic Whittaker said, "TV suffers from the apparent need to tie up plots. You see this when TV tries adapting a novel; all you get is the narrative, and

Wayne and Shuster

Wayne and Shuster's Christmas pantomime, starring Bob Goulet (star of Camelot), Don Gillies and Joan Fairfax. Mother Goose (Johnny Wayne) lives with her son Jack (Frank Shuster) and her daughter Jill (Joan Fairfax) in a humble cottage in Let's Pretend Land. Mother Goose has just returned from planet earth on her penny-farthing bicycle when the pantomime opens. She describes her experiences on this strange land called earth, but her joy is marred by the bad squire Flintbotham (Paul Kligman) who is demanding rent for the cottage. While everyone is unhappily waiting the arrival of the bailiffs to remove the furniture, Priscilla, the Wonder Goose (with Jack Medhurst inside) comes to the rescue and lays a golden egg. Then she lays a bigger egg, and a bigger one, and another, until Mother Goose is so rich that she can shed her rags and move into a palace. The wicked Demon (Ben Lennick) arrives and says it is no use being so rich if you are as ugly as Mother Goose. Despite warnings from Jack and Jill and Jill's sweetheart, Boy Blue (Bob Goulet), Mother Goose goes into the forest with the demon to take a dip in the magic pool, which she believes will make her beautiful.

LATE CONCERT

This week from the "Listening Booth" producer Ben Horch presents a performance by pianist Istvan Anthal and the Hungarian State Symphony of Liszt's "Concerto Pathetique." The work was originally written for two pianos; of the new arrangement (by Richard Burmeister) Herbert Glass has written: "... a new tautness of musical form, and an orchestration that far surpasses the Liszt original."
The performance is conducted by Victor Vaszy.

millions of tons of rock and soil,
cement and steel.
"And, of course, as we soon came to realize, here was an activity deep-rooted in the soil of Britain. The man manoeuvring the 20-ton bulldozer is the descendant of those early navvies who drove the first canals and railways across the face of Britain.

"But the most important of all for our purposes in preparing Song of a Road was the sense of being challenged to recapture a tradition of song."

In preparing the program they used 120 fifteen-minute reels of midget tape. Parker, MacColl and Miss Seeger (who is Mrs. Mac-Coll) worked for 10 weeks with miles of tape before the program was done to their liking. The range of those taking part is considerable. Sir Owen Williams, the engineer who designed the motorway, is heard, along with geologists,
tractor-drivers, fitters, foremen, scaffolders and labourers, as well as farmers through whose land the road was cut, and folk, jazz and pop musicians.

MacColl is the son of a Low-land Scottish iron moulder and a Highland mother. He grew up among folk songs, and collected more during the 1930's when he "bummed around a bit" through Britain. Later he became a playwright (George Bernard Shaw hailed him as "the greatest writer in the English language—after myself, of course"), and was art director of the Stratford Workshop, the well-known London theatre founded after the war by a group of young people who pooled their service gratuities to do it. Later MacColl became interested in folk singing as a career.

He met Miss Seeger four years ago when they appeared together

NATHAN COHEN

On "Encounter" each week, Nathan Cohen interviews a distinguished person and finds their views on subjects which particularly interest them.

on a television program. She was on a European tour following two years at Radcliffe College. She, too, had been steeped in a folk song atmosphere since childhood, as the daughter of an American musicologist Charles Seeger, and sister of famed balladeer Pete Seeger. She began sharing concerts with MacColl as both accompanist and singer, and they have given many joint recitals in Britain, Canada and the States, and made dozens of recordings. Miss Seeger specializes in North American folk songs, and MacColl in native British ballads.

seemed to be neurotic personalities. They were special cases, but psychological ones, not economic or physical. One intuited that these latter people were not destroyed by poverty but by other factors having little to do with this. To have made a film about them would have given a totally false impression. We would have made a film about psychotics, and not about poor people."

Scriptwriter George Robertson describes the story of Rickshaw like this: "An old man in his sixties has been coming to the city as a rickshaw puller for 30 years. He is tired and can no longer work as he once did. His son arrives from their home village, and the old man teaches him his trade as a rickshaw puller — they walk the streets together, the young man jogging alongside the rickshaw as the old man is working. They arrange for the boy to take over his father's shift on the rickshaw as soon as he gets his licence.

"A few mornings later," Robertson goes on, "the boy pulls the old man to the station, getting more hints and instructions on the way. At the station they part, and the old man looks back and sees his son getting his first fare. And then the train takes him back to his village" — where there is no more material comfort than in Calcutta, but which, at least, is home.

The script for Rickshaw contains few statistics. But perhaps some are pertinent here. There are about 12,000 rickshaws in the city of Calcutta, about half of them licensed, the other half illegal.

And there are about twice that number of rickshaw pullers, working in shifts. Soon, probably, all will be illegal as a recent World Health Organization report, finding many rickshaw pullers die of TB or heart disease, has advocated the abolition of the rickshaw in Calcutta. The Indian government has accepted the report.

But the problem becomes: what will happen to those 25,000 rickshaw men when their only means of livelihood has gone?

"Rickshaw people are looked down on by practically everyone else in the community," says Robertson. "They are harrassed by the police, jostled by taxi-drivers. Living solely on a bit of rice and a kind of pancake made of wheat called a chapattie, they do a humiliating and punishing job with very little expectation of anything better.

"They have all left their families behind in the villages, and work for six to nine months each year, returning to the village when some money has been saved up, where they will work the land a little, beget another child, and leave for the city again."

Music behind the film is particularly striking, but here too director King had his difficulties. All the film was sent to England and processed there. The music, played by Indians living in London, was added to the soundtrack there.

Difficulty is, Indian music of this kind has considerable extemporization (though within rigid framework). Result was that any two rehearsals by the Indian musicians yielded different music. On film, of course, music and film must coincide practically right down to a chord-for-frame basis so that King had great difficulty getting the Indian variations dubbed in accurately.

Despite the many difficulties at virtually all stages of production, Rickshaw technically shows no sign of the strain. But more important, it is emotionally a very moving document.

In that, it fulfills a criterion which Allan King once expressed: "It is much more satisfying to exalt than to damn; to find the spark of life and dignity, and to cherish it."

TV in India

There is no TV set manufacturing in India, and all sets have to be imported. Plans are now going forward for the establishment of factories. All India Radio has distributed 20 community sets in rural and urban areas, at community centres organized by State governments, where audiences of 150 to 200 can view educational programs.

At The United Nations. Kathleen Teltsch, United Nations correspondent for the New York Times, gives her regular weekly report on activities at the U.N.

New Year's Day with Mr. Pepys. —Gilbert Highet feels that some books were written not to be read straight through, but to be dipped into or visited for half-an-hour. And one of these is the diary of Samuel Pepys. Gilbert Highet dips into it today, to tell Matinee listeners about some of the entries made in the diary on December 31 and January 1 each year. Samuel Pepys started his diary at the end of the year 1659 and kept it until May 1669. Gilbert Highet is professor of Greek and Latin languages at Columbia University, and well known as a broadcaster, teacher, critic and author. His latest book, published this year, is "Powers of Poetry." Professor Highet was born in Scotland and has lived in the United States since 1937.

Agate Jewellery from Nova Scotia. Canadian freelance broadcaster Marjory Whitelaw explains how rock-hunting and jewellery-making has become a passion in Nova Scotia, and she talks to some of the people involved in finding agate and amethyst along the Fundy shore and making it into jewellery.

WHAT MAKES GOOD TV DRAMA?

the narrative is often the weakest part of a novel."

"We would rather do originals than adaptations," said Moser, "but we just don't get enough originals. For that matter, there aren't enough properties left to adapt either."

Will tape and film, with the possibilities they offer of editing and of outside locations, be an advantage or an artistic drawback to TV?

"In five years there probably will be no live television drama," said Israel, "and I for one will not much regret it. The so-called spontaneity of live TV is little more than the possibility of the audience seeing the actor trip over a cable. Anyway, live TV never was spontaneous; the needs of the cameras made detailed planning essential."

Israel sees tape and film offering the advantages of escape from the restriction of studios. But producer Breen sees little artistic advantage in this. "The use of tape and film will only expand the medium in the sense that we can get outside locations and, in that way, we can get greater realism. But I didn't see that as a broadening of TV but rather it's a restriction. I would like to see television get away from the realism of films and move on to something much more imaginative."

What is the major fault of the scripts Moser sees? "One fault is too many words," he said. "Because of the nature of TV, drama scripts need fewer words than radio or even the stage. The picture must tell a lot of the story,"

ANTHOLOGY

CBC radio's literary magazine, featuring reviews, discussions, and readings of Canadian stories and poetry. Today—English playwright Arnold Wesker is interviewed by Canadian playwright John Gray. Wesker's trilogy—Chicken Soup and Barley; Roots; I'm talking about Jerusalem—have attracted critical comment during the past year.

W-10:30 pm K-10:30 pm X-10:30 pm and the actor, by small gestures, can get much information across."

Are there enough good TV plays to fill the demand? "There will always be a greater demand than there is supply of any type of good drama," says Israel. "If in a 26-week series of hour-long dramas you get half a dozen really good ones, that's a good average."

"On Broadway," said Moser, "there are about 85 Broadway productions each year of which maybe ten survive and five are hits. I think we do at least as well as that."

So there it is. CBC producers are looking for new drama writers. And TV drama, whatever its considerable successes in the past, like any other art form needs a succession of new ideas and new techniques, perhaps new formats and new values. Anyone interested can try!

What They Are Saying

Commentary from the press on CBC programs

JULIETTE (Nov. 26)—Toronto Daily Star (28/11), Dennis Braithwaite: "... I have always believed that the CBC should make greater use of Walter Susskind on TV . . . but what I had in mind was Susskind conducting the Toronto Symphony, not gagging it up with Jack Kane or playing 'Tune Detective' on the Juliette Show, as he did Saturday night. . . ." OPEN HOUSE (Nov. 25 Juvenile and Family Courts)—Montreal Star (28/11), Pat Pearce: "... It was fine to see this study make no concessions to the supposed woman's angle, but gave it to us straight."

WORLD OF MUSIC (Nov. 27)—Toronto Telegram (28/11), Jon Ruddy: "George Feyer was amusing with some clever cartoon impressions of popular songs."

The Christmas Story

ones. One of them is still going strong.”

We wanted to know if the Holy Trinity production was the same as it had been originally.

“I have changed the wording,” Mrs. Frank said, “but for the last few years I’ve assigned all the speaking parts to the narrator, my husband. The rest of the cast performs entirely by mime, which is very difficult to do beautifully. Of course we make improvements in production and this year we have some really lovely new music written by Catherine Palmer, our music and choir director. I couldn’t do the pageant exactly the same each year—it would just die.”

We learned that Mrs. Frank has two complete casts of 53 who alternate. They include negroes, orientals, people from a dozen or more countries. Some are from well-to-do families, others are down-and-outs. Many of them have been in The Christmas Story for years—one or two from the beginning. “I don’t audition,” Mrs. Frank explained. “I just look around through the years and note people who might be suitable, and when an opening comes I ask them to take part.”

The smoothness of their performance is not the result of long rehearsal. Mrs. Frank said: “I like to start private rehearsals with just a few performers no later than September, but I find it’s better to limit full rehearsals to just three, with one ‘dress.’ That way they don’t get stale.”

One of the most impressive of them is the Red King, who is always a negro, accompanied by a retinue of small negro children. For years they were played by a plasterer, a direct descendant of an Ethiopian chieftain, and some of his six children. Coming down the aisle in his splendid robes he looked every inch a king. He died a few years ago, but members of his family still take part. The current Mary was an angel for many years. An earlier Mary became a Church of England missionary in India, where she has produced another edition of The Christmas Story.

There are numerous children in the pageant, and we were curious to know how Mrs. Frank manages to keep them out of mischief through the long performance. She smiled. “We have helpers stationed all over the place to keep an eye on them.” And she added that backstage it’s not unusual to see a small angel with his nose in a comic book, waiting for his cue.

As we were leaving Mrs. Frank said that The Christmas Story is best described in a newspaper editorial that appeared in the pageant’s early days, and applies still. She produced a scrapbook and we read: “The great merit of this particular Nativity Play is that the simplicity and humanity of the ideas are not obscured. The place is still a church, not a theatre, and the beauty of the production is meant as, and has the effect of, an act of worship.”
